Introduction

Istria

The Istrian peninsula is sometimes called the green peninsula because it is the biggest green oasis on the Northern Adriatic coast, and its relative closeness to all Central European countries makes it a perfect Mediterranean destination.

The climate is free of extremes with moderately hot summers and mild winters, and very pleasant spring and autumn temperatures. This makes Istria an ideal cycling destination throughout the year. The landscape in Istria and the numerous cycling routes will satisfy both weekend cyclists and the most demanding bicycle riders alike. We pay much attention to preserving a clean environment, as you will see for yourself while riding on almost traffic-free paths that will take you to the nicest viewpoints, picturesque medieval towns and villages where time seems to have stopped, and beautiful coastal towns permeated with the spirit of turbulent and rich Istrian history.

North-western Istria

The North-western part of Istria stretches from the Slovenian border to the north to the river Mirna to the south, and comprises the following towns and settlements: Umag, Novigrad, Buje, Savudrija, and Brtonigla. This area abounds with natural diversity, from the lowland near the sea with dense evergreen underbrush and fertile acres, to the gentle hills of the hinterland that offer unique views on green forests, vineyards and olive groves, brooks and rivers, all the way to the fertile valley of the river Mirna which flows into the sea near Novigrad. Testimonies of the rich Istrian history can be seen in many places, among which you should not miss the oldest lighthouse of the Adriatic in Savudrija on the northernmost point of Istria (1818), or the medieval town of Grožnjan famous for its exceptional beauty and numerous summer artistic colonies and events. It is worth visiting the Baroque church of St Mary, St Maximilian and St Pelagius in Novigrad and its Romanesque crypt that hosts a unique sacral collection, as well as the three-nave St Servulus Church in Buje with seven altars and an organ from 1791. The Castle of Momjan built in 1234 is another important historic location. It used to be the home of the Momjan Lords, and its ruins are located on the slope of the hill overlooking the fertile valley of the river Arđila. If you want to see how a typical medieval Istrian town looked like, visit Završje or Opatalj, towns that seem to have changed very little from the time they were founded, and that offer magnificent viewpoints on the valley of the river Mirna.

We are very proud to present the gastronomy of the region which is of exceptional quality and diversity. As it befits a region on the sea, the coast abounds with fish restaurants that offer fresh fish and seafood, while the inland has many taverns (konoba) and restaurants where you can taste everything from simple traditional food and excellent Istrian prosciutto (dried ham) to many innovative dishes made with green wild asparagus and white and black truffles typical of this region. It is important to mention that from almost every cycling route you can access several wine roads, and we especially recommend the wine road of Momjan where a wine of strong flavour and scent is produced – the Moscato from Momjan. In addition to the wine roads we also recommend the olive oil roads, among which those with tasting parlours offer the possibility to taste and purchase their delicious products.

Experience North-western Istria on the bike, its beauties and the riches of its flavours and scents, and even before your present stay has finished you will want to come back again.

We wish you an unforgettable biking vacation in Istria. Welcome!

Rules of conduct while riding on roads

The cycling vacation has become increasingly popular among tourists in Istria and the number of cyclists on our roads has multiplied in the past ten years, calling for a growing need of responsible conduct on the biking routes in order to increase security and avoid possible accidents.

Cycling routes in this guide book mostly follow secondary roads and trails that are almost completely free of traffic. However, parts of the routes simply have to follow main roads where you will encounter many vehicles.

In order to safely ride on these busy parts of the routes, please respect the following security rules and advice:

- always ride on the far right edge of the road one behind the other and never side by side, so that you occupy only a small part of the road and allow other vehicles to pass freely
- when turning left, always look behind you and give a clear hand sign that you intend to turn
- while riding downhill, always stay on the far right side of the road and do not cut across the turns
- respect traffic rules and signs which apply to motor vehicle drivers
- always have sufficient amounts of water or other refreshing drink with you
- before taking a specific cycling route, inspect its difficulty and make sure you have an adequate level of fitness to endure it
- check the weather forecast and do not take a ride in unfavourable weather conditions such as heavy rain or strong sun and high temperatures

Not to be missed

The starting point of today's stage is in Oprtalj, a small town that used to be an important medieval centre of the region and where history left its marks at every corner. You should visit the loggia that homes the collection of stone monuments, and the churches of the Blessed Virgin Mary and of St. Rocco decorated with frescoes. In the store "Loggia" you can taste typical Istrian products. Besides Oprtalj, the route takes you Završje, a historic place where time seems to have stopped, and Grožnjan, the picturesque town protected by fortification walls from every side, with its numerous art galleries and ateliers which gave it the name of 'the city of artists'. On this route you will come across one of the leading Croatian olive oil producers Ipšja in the village Ipšja, and the wine cellar Zigante in the village Kostanjica with its friendly staff and exceptional food and wines. Another interesting agro-tourism is situated in the village Montizel and it is run by the Pincin family.

Aphrodisiac road

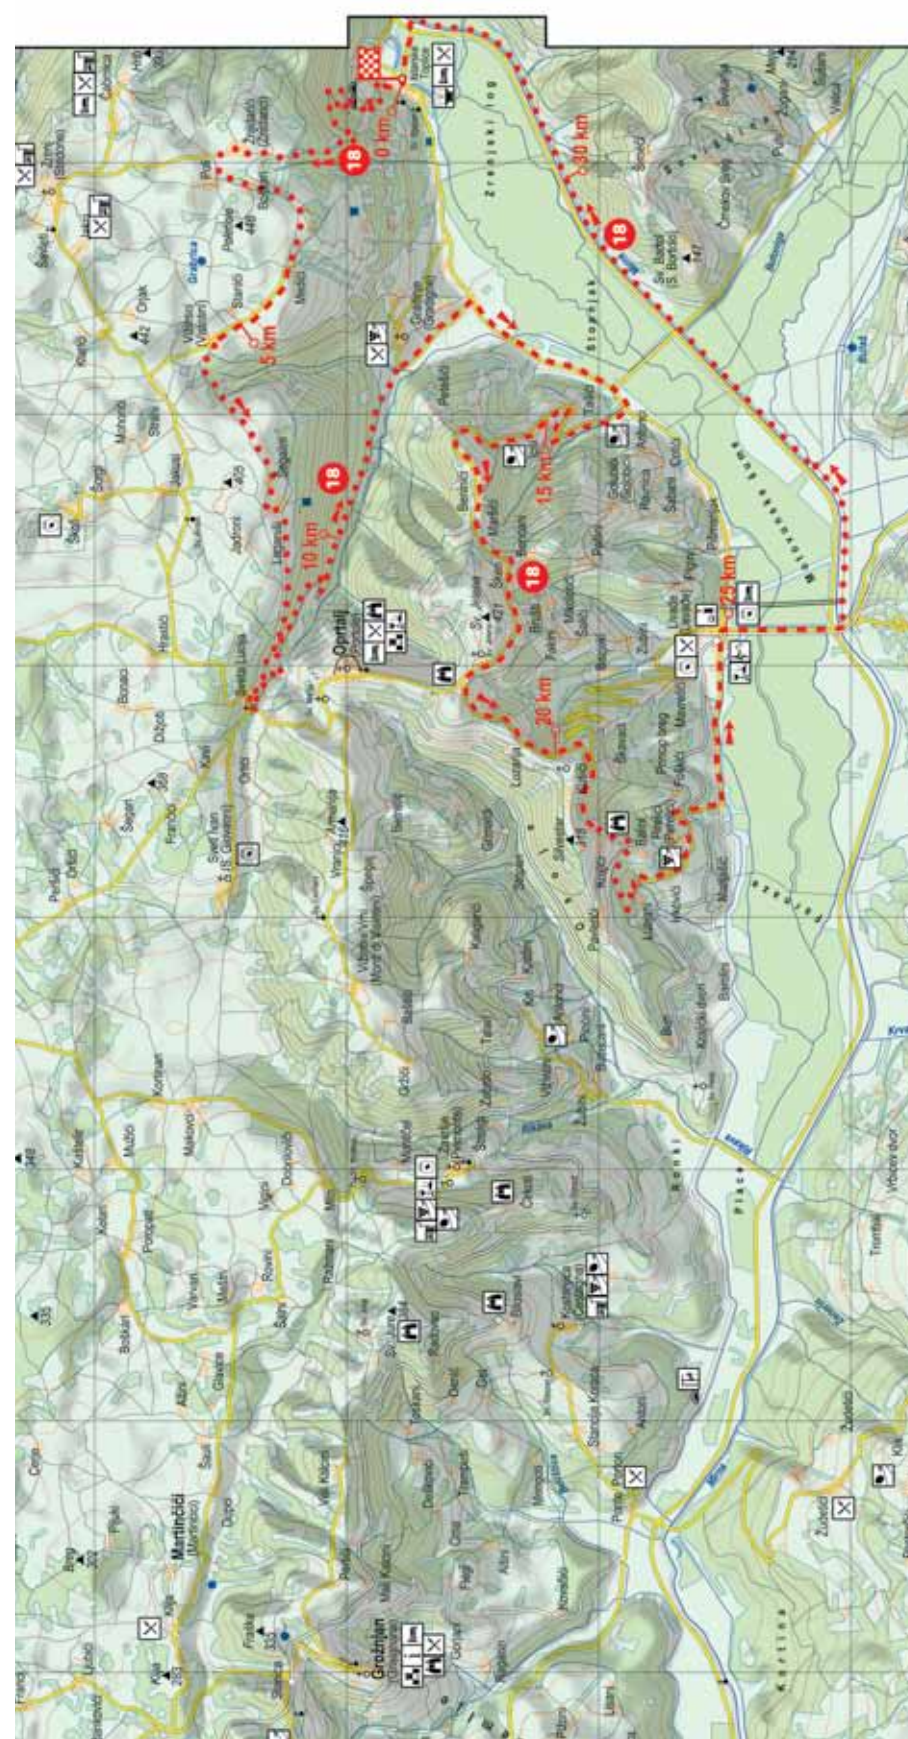

Route description

In the vicinity of the Istrian Spa along with the old quarry we start a 4,5 km long uphill to Znjidarici village. After Znjidarici we turn left and pass Poli, Medici, Vizintini and Laganisi arriving to Saint Lucija and then go downhill to Gradinje. In Gradinje turn right, continue on the main road towards Livade and after a couple of kilometres turn to Ipsi. Here an uphill to Saint Jelena starts and then a downhill to Livade. Already after 1 kilometre right to Krajjici, downhill to Balini and Pirelici thus arriving to Livade indirectly. From Livade turn right towards Motovun. After crossing the Mirna river bridge turn right immediately and along the Mirna river continue until the Istrian spa.

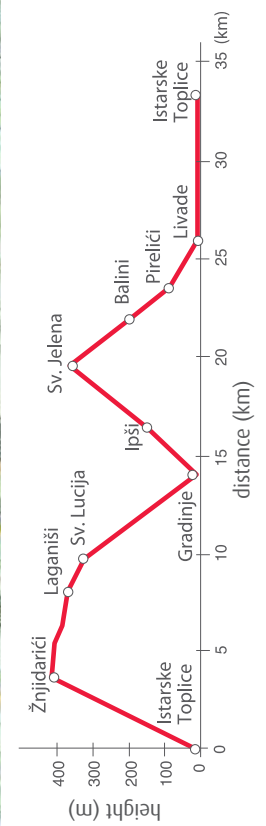

What to visit

The aphrodisiac road goes through peaks and hills south and east of Oprtalj where from you can enjoy the beautiful scenery to the Mirna valley, picturesque medieval town Motovun and the greenery of surrounding hills. This land is known as the habitat of the truffle. This expensive bulb with an aphrodisiac reputation is being prepared in numerous ways in local restaurants and konobas. Don't hesitate and stop for lunch because a plate of home made pasta with truffles is an extraordinary addition to your bike adventure through north-western Istria. Along this route special attention to bike-explorers should be given to Livade, a place called also the world truffle centre. Every October it hosts a big festival dedicated to this delicious king of cookery-especially for the white truffle, the best one among truffle types. Even if it can be found in other parts of Europe too they say the Istrian white truffle from the Motovun woods has something special while it has enchanted not a small number of gourmands so far. Moreover, don't miss to go and look for the replica of the record truffle weighing more than 1,3 kilos which has been found in 1999 exactly in Livade. This truffle has become part of the Guinness book of records as the heaviest truffle in the world found so far. It is exhibited in the lovely shop of home made specialties on truffle basis. The Guinness record episode only strengthened the reputation of small Livade as the real truffle centre in the world. Istrian spa (where the road begins and ends) is a place for relaxation and peace. Above the village you can see an impressive 85 meters high cliff called Gorostass situated close to a source of healing water while the peak of the rock is home to the Saint Stjepan church after whom the spa resort was named. A longer drive along the Mirna riverbed which follows on the way back to Istrian spa represents a special experience for cyclists and sportsmen of various profiles.

MTB ROUTE PARENZANA

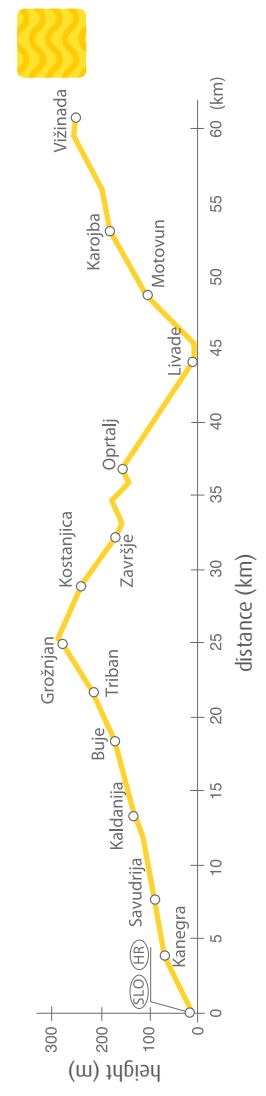

About Parenzana

Parenzana was a narrow-gauge railway operating between 1902 and 1935 between Trieste and Poreč (at that time Parenzo, hence the name Parenzana). It connected Istria to the inland of the Austrian-Hungarian Monarchy, of which Istria was an integral part. The railroad was of extreme importance as it brought economic progress to the most isolated and poorest parts of Istria, therefore it is not surprising that people still remember it with respect and nostalgia. The railway transported wine, olive oil, salt, fruit, vegetables, lime, wood and other goods to the market and it ran through North-western Istria connecting Trieste with Poreč via Koper, Piran, Buje, Grožnjan, Završje, Livade, Motovun, and Vižnada. The last train rode on August 31st 1935. Since it couldn't compete with the road transportation it was dismantled, carriages and locomotives sold and reallocated, while rails were loaded on a ship for Abyssinia which allegedly ended up sunken somewhere in the Mediterranean. Even though it has been 73 years since Parenzana closed, most railway stations have survived as many were converted into homes. Viaducts and tunnels are preserved as well and are exceptionally attractive. Many passionate hikers, researchers, cyclists and nature lovers have been long aware of the beauty of this magical route emphasizing that it can have huge potential if adequately revitalized. With the financial support of the European Union, vegetation and obstacles have been cleared from the railway route, and the bridges have been restored and equipped with security fences. Being financed by multinational European Union and connecting three states - Italy, Slovenia and Croatia, Parenzana is rightly called The Path of Health and Friendship. On May 10th 2008, on the almost forgotten route of the former railway line, there was a formal opening of the cycling route "Parenzana".

Route description

Even though the route starts near the border crossing Plovanija we recommend you start in the tourist settlement Kanegra, from where you should follow yellow markings in the direction of Buje. The route twists left at almost 180 degrees and passes by the former station Savudrija-Salvore; take the tarmac road there and continue towards the village of Markovac. In Markovac come off the route of the railway Parenzana and take the main road; turn left to the crossroads with the main Istrian road "Y"; cross the crossroads and, following the yellow signpost, turn right again onto Parenzana which will take you to Kaldanija; turn right and along the main road continue to Buje. After 1.5 km turn left then again turn to the unpaved Parenzana route; across Volpija continue to the main road Buje-Kaštel, there turn right towards Buje and after 1 km following the sign Parenzana turn left to a narrow concrete path. Having passed by the building of the former railway station Buje, carry on the left along the main road towards Grožnjan; after two sharp turns, turn right and return to the unpaved Parenzana route. Continue by the station Triban to the very entrance of the closed tunnel Sv. Vid. Turn right and circumvent in front of the town of Grožnjan, we pass through the tunnel Kalcini (178.7 m), and return again to the unpaved road route. Continue through Biloslavi, Kostanjica tunnel (69.9 m) and arrive to the foot of the hill on top of which is Završje. Take the wide unpaved road and continue along Parenzana to the tunnel Završje 1 (35 m) and Završje 2 (28m), followed by the viaduct Završje (61.8 m). Carry on along the route passing the village of Vižintini and after a few hundred meters you will arrive to the viaduct Antonci (61.8 m). Shortly after the viaduct you will reach the village of Krti where you continue along the Parenzana route. After a few kilometres the route takes you over the viaduct (68.5 m) and through the tunnel Freski (146 m). Arriving to the railway station Oprtalj descent in a gentle rightward turn over the viaduct Oprtalj (75,2 m) and there continue further downhill; after a few kilometres you will come to Livade, and its Museum with the Parenzana collection. From Livade, the route takes you along the main road which crosses the bridge over the Mirna river followed from where it keeps going uphill on the left edge of Motovun hill, passing through the tunnel Motovun (222 m) and continues toward former station of Karojba to the viaduct Krvar (39.9 m). Continuing uphill you will arrive to the viaduct of Sabadin (64 m) and then to the former station Vižinada, where the route of Parenzana reaches its end.

What to visit

Along the Parenzana route lay some of the most unique and precious towns in Istria, including the "town of artists" Grožnjan, Završje, the most beautiful medieval town in Istria Motovun, and a very important historic town Vižinada. The route abounds in scenic views, stone viaducts some as high as 50m, and preserved tunnels with eco friendly lighting. Lush vegetation and the variety of flora and fauna you will encounter along the route are fascinating and the passages cut in rock and the precipice below some of its parts impressive. From the enogastronomic offer we recommend tavern "La Parenzana" in Volpija, wine store "Enoteca Zigante Tartufi" in Livade, agro-tourisms Dešković in Kostanjica and Pincin in Montizel, and wine cellar Zigante Duvilio in Kostanjica.
